

Trilo Trilo Spelling

'Trilo Spelling' now available on the Apple App Store and the Google Play Store

A fun and adventurous spelling game made for students K-2

SWEDEN – July 24, 2016 – Available for download now, Trilo Spelling offers a fun and challenging spelling game for kids grades K-2. Kids touch the screen to select letters and photos to spell words while hearing their sounds (phonemes). This technique helps children improve their spelling and reading skills in a multisensory, phonics-based, immersive approach. Kids increase their understanding of basic and intermediate word structure, while also expanding their vocabulary with 250 unique words. As players complete a level, they receive a puzzle piece to fuel their plane to travel around Trilo Land.

Trilo Spelling was developed in cooperation with US elementary school teachers and students to ensure the app is an engaging and effective educational tool for kids. Trilo Spelling is great for long car rides, after-dinner games, summer enhancement activities, in-classroom learning, and any other time your child wants to play!

Trilo Spelling was developed by Trilo Interactive AB, an education app development company based in Sweden. The Swedish edition of Trilo Spelling - Fun With Duffton - is one of the best-selling elementary education apps in Sweden's history. Trilo's mission is to use apps and educational technology to creatively engage children and foster their love of learning during their most formative years of schooling. Trilo's American team is continuing to work with elementary educators in the US, and plans to launch a series of free releases of Trilo Spelling to a select number of elementary schools around the country.

Trilo Spelling is now available for $4.99 in the US and is priced accordingly in other markets. The free version of Trilo Spelling includes two games of play at one level and is intended to help parents and educators determine if the full version is the right app for their kids.
